Hippity hoppity,
up hill and down,
Over the hill-top to Cotton Tail Town — Where shy little bunnies are working away,
Coloring eggs
for a bright Easter day.

Here is one that is blue
as the sky overhead,
And one gaily splashed with a bright poppy red —
and one meadow green
And one like a sea shell,
the pinkest I've seen.

Perhaps Easter morning
you'll open your eyes,
To find on your doorstep
a happy surprise —
Of eggs, gaily painted . . .
red, yellow and brown,
By shy little bunnies
from Cotton Tail Town.

Easter Greetings

COUNCIL MEETING

The Council held a special meeting on the 15th of March to determine the 1960 Budget. Much preparation had gone into the budget. Estimates for 1960 in the past two months and the Budget meeting was the culmination of all previous work on it. The finalized estimate required the setting of a total mill rate of 60 mills broken down to School Levy, 32 mills; Municipal Levy, 23 mills and Hospital Levy 5 mills.

Total expenditures for 1960 are estimated to be $309, 270. 98, with a surplus of $999. 02 and Total Revenues, including an amount of $16, 000. 00 to be used from surplus are estimated at $310, 270. 00. It is to be noted that the total expenditures include Requisitions for Schools in amount of $76, 944. 00; Hospital Expenses of $12, 000. 00; Debt Charges of $56, 975. 48; and Capital Expenditures for 1960 out of Revenue of $46, 900. 00.

At a special meeting held on April 5th, direction was given to apply for Water Works Benefits for the Sidewalk Construction program, which is proposed for parts of the Residential District as well as the Commercial District.

The regular meeting of Council for April was held on the 14th, with all members of Council in attendance. The subject of combatting dust from the streets in the residential areas prompted a motion by Council that, as soon as conditions permit, the Town take steps to oil the streets under the supervision of the Town Engineers in the manner suggested by Mr. Thierman, an engineer with Haddin, Davis and Brown, Ltd., Consulting Engineers for the Town. An estimated cost for the project would be about 10¢ per foot of frontage per annum.

Council, in the discussion regarding the new Peddlers and Salesmen's Licensing regulations, directed that information be procured relating to the control of hours which salesmen may operate within the town.

Uniform Traffic Signs

Alberta has joined other Canadian provinces in accepting a plan for uniform traffic control devices prepared by a special committee of federal, provincial and civic government officials, representatives of the Canadian Good Roads Association, the Institute of Traffic Engineers, Canadian Automobile Association and other national groups.

Motorists travelling in any part of Canada will now be able to easily recognize the meaning of any road sign which may be the same throughout Canada.

The special committee standardized road signes with regard to shape, color, dimensions, symbols, wording or lettering and illuminization or reflectorization.

The types of signs used across the nation were classified into three general groups. Regulatory signs give the highway user notice of traffic regulations, with a few exceptions these are rect angular with the longer dimension vertical. They are usually white with black, green or red lettering and border. Exceptions in shape and color are the red, octogon "stop" sign; yellow, inverted-triangle "yield" sign, and "one-way" sign and "night speed" sign.

Warning signs which call attention to conditions that are potentially hazardous to traffic operation are generally diamond shaped. They have a yellow background with black lettering or symbols. General exceptions are advance railway signs which are circular and the railway crossbuck sign.

Guide signs used to show route designations, directions, distances, points of interest or other geographical or cultural information are green with white symbols or lettering. They are rectangular in shape with the longer dimension horizontal. Provincial route markers can be white with black lettering.

Major change in Alberta will involve the use of more symbol signs to make schools, playgrounds and pedestrian crosswalks The Uniform Traffic Control Devices committee recommended that a new and distinctive shape and color be used for advance warning of a school, crosswalk or school speed zone. The selected sign is a pentagon-shaped school house which bears a symbol of two children in white on a blue background. The sign is being used on Alberta highways approximately 1,000 feet before the beginning of a regularly marked school speed zone.

$42,000,000 INVESTMENT IN ALBERTA TO PIPE LINE HYDROCARBON PRODUCTS

A large capital investment program in the Province has been forecast by James A. Scott, President of Pembina Pipe Line Ltd. and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Foothills Pipe Lines Ltd., to handle the liquid hydrocarbons resulting from the production of new gas for export. A joint Pembina-Prodgcan Research Group has estimated that some twenty processing plants will be built to service the foothills area wet-gas fields which are to be tied in by Alberta Gas Trunk Line Company Limited. Alberta Gas Trunk will deliver the new natural gas requirements of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited; Alberta & Southern Gas Co. Ltd., and Westcoast Transmission. The gas processing plants will remove the liquid hydrocarbons from the gas and will result in a total Alberta production of an initial 92,000 barrels a day of propane, butanes, and condensates.

Pembina's own liquid hydrocarbons gathering system and transmission lines in the Province will cost approximately $42,000,000. Mr. Scott also revealed today that his company had spent substantial sums of money in the past two years in an effort to find practical solutions to the problem of marketing Alberta's vast natural gas by-products. Complete surveys on economics; feasibility and markets were made for twelve separate pipe line proposals. Some of these were a proposal to send liquid hydrogen sulphide commingled with liquid hydrocarbons in a 14-inch line to the west coast by a northern Yellowhead route; to send liquid hydrogen sulphide in one line and liquid hydrocarbons in a second line to the west coast; to use the two-line system to send the products to the Great Lakes, and finally the present proposal to send liquid hydrocarbons in a 16-inch line to a deep water port on the Great Lakes.

Mr. Scott pointed out that many other schemes were studied. In an effort to find a practical way of pipe-lining sulphur, for instance, Pembina looked at the possibilities of transporting sulphur as a slurry in water; as hydrogen di-sulphide; as liquid sulphur di-oxide, and in the form of sulphuric acid. Other compounds of sulphur were also explored.

Currently, large sums are being spent by Pembina Pipe Line Ltd. and some of the major gas producers, in research to determine the feasibility of sending elemental sulphur as a slurry in the

GENERAL MEETING

The second general public meeting of 28th at 8 o'clock in the Elk's Community Hall.

This meeting is open to you the public, it seems over the past months, since the Association has been organized, that the public is not interested in recreation of any sort, why the lack of interest I do not know, it has been rumored around that the organization is trying to dictate to you the public as to what you will do and will not do in regards to recreation. This is not true. This association with its group can only do so much, and if you the public can't support the Association with more interest then we are batting our heads against a brick wall,

You the public will be asked to nominate and vote for, two persons to fill the seat on the executive, and sixteen to the board of directors. It is up to you to put in your choice, and who knows, maybe we will have a better Organization.

A financial statement will be given and you will have a chance to discuss this if you wish to do so.

We are now coming into the ball season, and we will be needing coaches for both little League and Pony League, according to the survey that was sent around, there were not enough volunteers for this need. If there is anyone interested please let us know as soon as possible.

Hoping to see you at this meeting. Don't forget the date April 28, 1960, place Elk's Community Hall, time 8 o'clock.

Home & School

The March meeting of the Drayton Valley Home and School Assoc. was held on Tuesday March 29th as the Blood Bank was held on Monday. The Grades I and II class rooms were open with the teachers present. A large number of parents took this opportunity to see their children's work and meet the teachers.

This resulted in a very good attendance at the meeting following.

Letters of thanks were read from the Stony Plain School Board and Mr. Maddock for suggesting the name for the new High School.

Mr. Luchak resigned as Treasurer due to pressure of business and Mr. Frank Payce was elected in his place.

Mrs. Miller offered to be chairman of Refreshments Committee.

The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Twisale's room.

A very interesting book display was set up by the school so parents could see the books their children were using.

The next meeting will be Monday April 25 at 8 p.m. A film "Family Circle" will be shown with a moderator.

liquid hydrocarbons stream. Research is being carried out by the University of Alberta, and the Colorado School of Mines Research Foundation Inc. "Every effort is being made", Mr. Scott said, "to find a practical way of transporting at least some of our surplus sulphur so that it can compete in larger markets. Only a pipe line solution offers a chance of keeping transportation costs low enough to make this possible".

Meanwhile, Pembina is going ahead with its plans to gather and transmit surplus liquid hydrocarbons by pipe line to the Great Lakes Industrial Area. Mr. Scott estimated that if all permits necessary were to be granted during 1960, construction could start in early 1961. "As a Canadian company, we are happy to have had the opportunity of working with several major gas producers in solving the surplus problem of Alberta's liquid hydrocarbons. We are convinced that ours is the only possible and practical solution, and is one that will result in increased royalties to the Province; greater return to the gas producers; and substantial ownership in the system by Albertans and Canadians as a whole", Mr. Scott Concluded.

REPORT FROM LEGISLATURE

By Mrs. C. R. Wood, M.L.A.

During the ninth week in the Legislature the Members continued the study and passage of a number of the 128 Bills that have been presented.

On Monday thirty Bills were considered by the Committee of the Whole Assembly. The Bill which authorises the Cabinet and the Calgary Power Company to make agreements respecting storage and power development on the Brazeau and North Saskatchewan River, was severely criticized by E. Watkins (P.C. Calgary) and Earl Ansley (Ind. S.C. Leduc) who also expressed concern over the lack of a stated amount of money which might be required under the Act.

Premier Manning stated that it was enabling legislation permitting flexibility and allowing expenditures by special warrant which must be approved later by the Legislature. Since no definite estimate of the cost of the dam had been arrived at, Hon. L.C. Halmrast, Minister in charge of water resources, said he could not give an estimate of the amount of money needed, but the matter was in qualified hands and work would proceed in the interests of all the people. The government is anxious that work proceed as early as possible on the dam, for it would be used to ease pollution in the North Saskatchewan River.

On Tuesday-Private Members' Day, the resolution re additional license fees of hunters providing a fund to compensate farmers for crop and livestock damage caused by wildfowl or hunters was concluded. On a voice vote the amendment carried.

A Committee was named to review the Workmen's Compensation Act and recommend amendments to the next Session. The Committee is headed by Arthur Dixon (S.C. Calgary). Others on the Committee are Mrs. E. G. Robingson (S.C. Medicine Hat) Hon. R. Reierson Minister of Labor, Wm. Kovach (S.C. Pincher Creek) J.C. Hillman (S.C. Sedgewick) Ernest Watkins (P.C. Calgary) and M. Maccagno (lib. Lac La Biche).

On Wednesday, seventy-six Bills were given their third reading. The only one receiving any comment was Bill 63, Amending the Communal Property Act common ly called The Hutterite Bill. Arthur Dixon questioned this type of legislation and asked the Minister to bring in a complete report as to how the Act is working at the next session of the Legislature.

Twelve Bills were given clause by clause study, with most of the time being devoted to the Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act sponsored by Highways Minister Hon. Gordon Taylor. Far-reaching amendments to this Act include provisions aimed at reducing hit-and-run accidents. When a car is involved in an accident, police will be required to place a certain type of sticker on the windshield. When the car goes into a garage with damage greater than $100. and without a sticker, the garageman cannot repair it until after he has notified the police and obtained authority to repair it. The same applies to a car struck by a bullet. As soon as the police officer places the sticker on the car, the owner can get his car repaired.

Another amendment provides for "Learners' Permits". At present drivers' licenses may be issued to those who are 16 years of age with parents consent, or 18 years of age without consent. Anyone over the age of 14 years, who wants to learn to drive, may apply for a Learner's Permit and pass a vision and knowledge test. Driver examiners will discuss right attitudes in driving with these young applicants and the permit issued will entitle them only to drive with a parent or holder of a Driver's license beside them.

One objective of this amendment is to help police get unlicensed drivers who get into accidents and claim they are taking driving lessons from whoever was in the car with them.

The College of Physicians and Surgeons has agreed to set up a panel to advise the Department of Highways on the fitness for driving of persons subject to epilepsy. The Act makes provision for the setting up of such a panel.

A clause in the proposed amendments which made a rear-end collision prima facia evidence of driving too closely behind the car ahead, was withdrawn after a lengthy discussion.

The highlight of the week was the introduction by Hon. A.J. Hooke, Minister of Municipal Affairs, of a New Bill which will permit the government to start assessing industrial plants, pipelines and powerlines. It replaces the two Bills introduced early in the Session, one of which 'Industrial Tax' was thoroughly discussed in the Agriculture Committee.

The new Bill meets some of the objections raised by industries and others who submitted briefs to the effect that too much haste was being taken with the Bill, and they were fearful of its implications, not having had sufficient time to give it careful study.

The new Bill covers the Industrial Tax Bill which would have given the government power to assess certain industries, set a mill rate, collect taxes and distribute the revenue amongst the municipalities supplying services for the plant workers. The new Bill also covers the pipeline and powerline Bill which would have allowed rural municipalities to collect property taxes on pipelines and powerlines. It was expected that the assessment on these lines in rural areas would provide a new source of revenue for municipal districts and counties.

Hon. A.J. Hooke said that if the assessment and studies under the new Bill are completed in time for interested industries and municipal authorities to make a study of it to determine its implications, a special Session of the Legislature may be called in early Fall in order that the new taxing provisions could go into effect January 1961.

On Thursday morning under chairmanship of Hon. Peter Dawson, the Members of the Legislative Assembly decided upon organization of an Alberta Branch of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association. Hon. Peter Dawson was named President and vice-presidents named were Premier Manning, Ernest Watkins, M. Maccagno, Earl Ansley, and Frank Gainer (Coalition Banff-Cochrane).

Advantages of such an organization are that it will promote a better understanding of parliamentary problems of Commonwealth Nations and by joining together solutions may be arrived at and each Member will receive a Journal which records debates from the various nations on important issues.

Membership was set at $5.00 and this fund will provide entertainment for visiting members from other nations of the Commonwealth when in our Province of Alberta.

The Committee of whole Assembly spent considerable time on Friday in the clause by clause study of Bill 107 designed to regulate and control pre-arranged funeral services by licensing those who sell such prepaid funeral plans which are coming into use in the Province.

The Act requires 80% of payments made thereunder to be held in trust and in three years refundable to any applicant asking therefor. The Bill with various amendments passed on a voice vote.

Vice, Victory, and Vision

Harold Williams

Submitted by Pastor J.C. Wiuff, of the Drayton Valley Church of God.

Taken from the Gospel Trumpet

The Apostle Paul wrote to the Christians in Rome, "In the past you voluntarily gave your bodies to the service of vice and wickedness--for the purpose of becoming wicked. So, now, give yourselves to the service of right eousness--for the purpose of becoming really good" (Rom. 6:19, Phillips).

In this portion of the Scriptures Paul emphasizes entirely the human part of salvation. It is a necessary emphasis and one that needs to be remembered by all of us. For although our salvation is divinely contrived and divinely bestowed, it all comes at the point of human repentance, or it does not come at all.

The love of God can warn, the judgement of God can chide, the beauty of Christ can draw, but only an honest, clear look at oneself can set the soul's stage for submission.

Let us stay within Paul's emphasis as we study the two things which Romans 8:19 tells us.

"You voluntarily gave your bodies to the service of vice and wickedness". The will of man is the source of sin. Sin isn't something which the devil sprinkles upon people if they are so unfortunate as to get close to him. Sin isn't a noun. It is a verb. "You voluntarily gave your bodies to the service of vice."

Bodies do not sin. Bodies serve vice and wickedness when our will volunteers the body's service.

Our circumstances aren't sinful. We are sinful when we use circumstances to violate God's known will for us.

THIS is a much needed reminder for society today. Men try to rationalize sin. They blame it upon physical impulses, upon environment, upon heredity.

The truth is that sin is caused by the sinner. The source of sin is man's will. Willingness to do wrong creates the wrong deed.

In life we are constantly exercising the will in the choices and decisions we make. Back of any shocking discovery of sinfulness which one may discover is the salient build-up of choices which finally eventuated in the deed.

Perhaps you find yourself in sin, and you say to yourself, "How could I have done this thing?" This is how! Step by step you chose the act and attitude which built up to it.

Every person's sin is a problem of multiple choices. Jesus laid the groundwork for this fact in the Sermon on the Mount.

When a person commits adultery for instance, it isn't a sudden over-whelming urge which makes him lose control. Oh, no. First there is the look; then more looks. Then there is the remembering of the look and the imagination choosing to toy with it.

Then there is the lusting for the imagined thing to become real, and this lust tries to communicate itself to its object. Then comes opportunity, fulfillment, and so on.

Notice that all these choices are a chain of separate links. But voluntarily put together, they terminate in sin.

This is why Jesus said that to look with lust is sin. One must choose not to look in order to keep clean.

Sin is a problem of multiple choices. At any one of the choice points a person has the power to stop the trend, stay the sin, start another way, decide differently.

If you are in sin, the worst thing about it is that you did it. You made and moulded in God's own image, once pure and innocent and nesting in a world of childhood wonder and believing love--you sinned. Your sin is yours. You did it.

There can never be the shock which brings biblical repentance until one faces himself and confesses, "I am the kind of man who would do this thing. O God, I need something inside me to make me different."

Paul wrote with great candor and honesty about this very thing. With no excuses he said, "I persecuted the church of God. I consented to Stephen's death." He spoke of himself as once the chief of sinners.

So, in order to be saved from sin, we must face sin as a voluntary act of a person's will.

LET us now turn to another truth revealed in this text, Romans 6:19: "So, now, give yourselves to the service of righteousness--for the purpose of becoming really good."

The will of man is likewise the key here. Just as sin is voluntary or a matter of choice, so repentance is voluntary, a matter of choice. In fact, it is a choice, so repentance is voluntary, a matter of choice. In fact, it is a choice of such scope and bearing that it is life's major decision.

Repentance is not a matter of feeling. It is a matter of will. Feelings cannot be commanded, but repentance is commanded.

Repentance is turning from the wrong way one is going to God. Who turns? You do, if you are a sinner. God made men with the power of choice for this very reason--that they might give themselves to him with open eyes and a clear mind and a certain will.

This is done in one great choice where vice is stopped, victory commenced, and vision achieved. Notice how Paul describes the decision: "So, now." Just two words, but fraught with meaning.

You know the vernacular meaning of the expression "so what". It means that the situation is just so, and there is nothing to do about it but shrug the shoulders. "So, now" means the complete opposite of that. It means there is something to do, and you should do it now.

Let me spell it out to you again: "So, now, give yourselves into righteousness." This is the gospel message of God's World: "So, now!"

Rudolph Allers says, "There is only one virtue--humble, volitional conformity to the will of God--and only one sin--defiance of God's will." This locates salvation quite accurately. In fact, it brings it down to just one thing. You. Which way will you step? It is your step.

MINUTE MESSAGE

ONE TOUCHED HIM

Throngs of the curious crowded around Jesus as He taught, and even as He merely walked through the streets. Among them, on one occasion, was a woman who desperately needed help, of the kind that He alone could give--and she knew it! Awestricken, yet her rare faith gave her courage to reach out and touch His garment. What happened then? If you don't know the answer, read it in Mark 5:25-33.

We who make up today's throngs need His help as much as did that faithful woman. It is there. We have but to reach out for it in faith.

PEMBINA PIPE LINE LTD. STUDY FORESEES HUGE SURPLUS OF HYDROCARBONS

Pembina officials, aware that a surplus problem would arise, began studies in 1957 to find an economic method of utilizing the foreseeable staggering quantities of hydrocarbons. The Pembina proposal is to construct a pipe line to the Great Lakes industrial area, giving deepwater access to both Eastern Canadian and U.S. markets. When Mr. Scott was asked if keeping the liquid hydrocarbons in Alberta would force petrochemical plants to locate here; he pointed to the group's study of Oklahoma. "Alberta and Oklahoma may be compared as to their production and utilization of hydrocarbons. Alberta has a population of 1 1/4 million and Oklahoma has 2 1/4 million. Both areas have the same handicaps: comparatively small population with consequent low consumption of finished products, and a landlocked position with consequent high freight rates. This makes it competitively uneconomical to ship finished products by rail, and the only answer is to transport the raw materials by the cheaper pipe line method to areas of heavy population or with access to cheap water transportation. Thus, Oklahoma, which presently produces approximately 71,000 barrels of liquid hydrocarbons a day, has only one petrochemical plant using products located in the state. It exports the majority of its liquid hydrocarbons by pipe line."

In the light of Pembina's quantity studies, Pembina experts realized Alberta would have to have six times the number of Alberta's present petrochemical plants to utilize even the first year of production resulting from the new export of natural gas, and Alberta would have a per-capita consumption of petrochemical products ten times that of the U.S.A.

The Group expects to release marketing studies and details of the pipe line plans in a short time. Pembina Pipe Line Ltd. is an Alberta corporation, owned more than 50% by Albertans, and 90% by Canadians.

MANITOBA REMINISCING

A small boy, a team of big, black horses, a flatbed hay rack mounted on a sleigh, and piled high with furniture, moved slowly across the snow-covered prairie. Winter was wearing away, and the snow had a shop-worn, pock-marked look. The day was clear, but cold and windy. The boy was I; and I was helping "move". We three, the horses and I, followed the snowy ruts between familiar farms and houses, whose unwinking window-eyes seemed to ask, "Where are you all going?" I felt just like saying, "Old house, we are moving. You better come along, too!"

In the fence corners Russian thistles stuck their seedless arms through the snowdrifts. Across the prairie, in the distance, a local freight train moved slowly, like a giant serpent. A plume of smoke stood above it, and moved with the train; now gray, then becoming black, as the fireman shoveled fresh coal into the serpent's mouth. A long string of unteen empty flat-cars in front of the caboose made it seem to be moving along alone, aloof and detached from the rest of the train. A herd of skinny cows, backsides turned to the chilly wind, stood hump-backed around a well trampled straw stack. Their plaintive bawling sounded across the snow monotonously and gave me a melancholy feeling. McKays' windmill turned briskly, and even at that distance I could hear its protesting creak. Across a wind-swept summer fallow two lean hounds cut swiftly, searching out rabbit or coyote tracks. Chester Clark galloped his horse down their lane and onto the highway, heading toward town. No doubt he expected the incoming local freight train would have mail for them. The cold wind made me hungry. Rummaging among the high-piled furniture I found the bread-box. It contained only some stale, cold, dry biscuits, but they tasted good. I shook the reins, and the team increased their pace, and mile was added to slow mile as hours were added to the day.

The afternoon sun moved slowly toward the west, then suddenly dipped behind the low western hills and was gone, and the wind grew colder. Darkness settled slowly, and the tired horses slackened their pace. The freshly crisped snow crunched under their feet. We passed through a clump of cottonwoods; their leafless arms seemed to bend and wave to welcome us as we came within sight of the lights of our new home. Although in unfamiliar territory Jack and Barney sensed the end of the journey and they pricked up their ears and quickened their pace. They were tired and hungry, for they hadn't even had cold dry biscuits along the way.

WHO WAS THE MODEL FOR HOLMAN HUNT'S CHRIST???

Henry Wentworth Monk, a pioneer of Zionism, who was born near Ottawa in 1827 and who died in the capital city in 1898. His father was an English officer who had settled in Upper Canada. Monk was educated in London and then farmed for a while at March, his birthplace near Ottawa. In 1852 he vowed never to shave nor cut his hair until the Jews were restored to Zion. In the following year he went to Palestine where he met the painter Holman Hunt and sat for the figure of Christ in Hunt's famous painting, Christ in the Temple. Monk had several exciting adventures. On a sea voyage from Jerusalem to New York in 1864 the ship on which he was a passenger was wrecked off Nantucket and he was the only survivor. In the 1860's he unsuccessfully attempted a trial flight in a home-made flying machine of his own devising. Seven years before his death he tried to persuade Sir John A. ABOUT $150,000,000 TO BE SPENT ON PRODUCTS PIPE LINE

Alberta may soon have an integrated gathering system throughout the foothills area, and a probable 16-inch transmission line to a Lake Michigan port, to handle the Province's growing surplus of liquid hydrocarbons, it was announced today by James A. Scott, President of Pembina Pipe Line Ltd. and two wholly-owned subsidiaries, Foothills Pipe Lines Ltd. and Westalta Products Pipe Line Ltd. Engineering studies call for a products pipe line that would include some 900 miles of a full-scale gathering system in Alberta, from the Berland River gas field approximately 200 miles northwest of Edmonton to the Waterton Lakes gas field in the southwest corner of the Province. A lateral line would take the products to the Saskatchewan border, probably near Burstall, Saskatchewan, then southeast to the North Dakota border, through North Dakota, Minnesota, and through Wisconsin to a deep-water port on Lake Michigan. The transmission line from the Alberta border to the Great Lakes market area would be approximately 1,300 miles in length. The pipe line would cost approximately $150,000,000 of which about $42,000,000 would be in the Alberta gathering and transmission system.

The Pembina-Producers Research Group have shown a production of liquid hydrocarbons of at least 92,000 barrels a day as soon as additional gas export gets under way, probably by 1962. The liquid hydrocarbons, propane, butanes and condensate, are removed from natural gas before it can be transported and marketed.

Practically all of the new production for gas export will come from wet gas fields in the foothills areas of Alberta, gas fields rich in the liquid hydrocarbons. Alberta's present production of the hydrocarbons is about 12,000 barrels a day. There are some 20 wet gas fields from Berland River to Waterton earmarked for the production of natural gas. These fields will have processing plants designed to prepare the natural gas for market. Pembina proposes to run laterals to each of these plants, picking up the liquid hydrocarbons, carrying them to the main gathering line running north and south, then to the main transmission line leading to the Great Lakes market. The system would make a steady, cheaply transported source of supply for Provincial markets, since the products would be available anywhere along the 900-mile gathering and transmission system within Alberta.

Some twelve engineering proposals were examined in detail by the Pembina-Producers Research Group. The present plan represents the best solution on existing production market data. The 16-inch line, with varying wall thickness, would be to A.P.I. specifications and would be purchased through Canadian sources. It would be designed to carry something over 65,000 barrels a day initially. The line would be designed to work to a maximum pressure of 1,200 pounds per square inch. The 16-inch line could handle, by adding to the original 12 pump stations, up to 160,000 barrels a day.

The hydrocarbons would be carried in a mixed stream to their destinations and if required by the market, would be separated before delivery into component parts.

Pembina Pipe Line Ltd., owned approximately 90% by Canadians, and over 50% by Albertans, has formed an Alberta company, Westalta Products Pipe Line Ltd., for the gathering system and transmission lines in the Province. It proposed to make a large percentage of the common stock in this company available to the Alberta public. Pembina has also obtained a Dominion chartered company, Foothills Pipe Lines Ltd. which would own the transmission line from the Alberta border to the Great Lakes terminal. Pembina proposes that a large percentage of the common stock of the Foothills company be sold to Canadians.

GAS COOKING SHOW

Miss Laura Lindsay, of C.F.R.N., appears at the Gas Cooking Show in Drayton Valley.

A Cooking Show, sponsored by the Guide and Brownie Mothers Auxiliary, under the auspices of Northwestern Utilities Ltd., and Canada Packers was put on in Drayton Valley Boy Scout Hall, on Wednesday evening, April 13, with a very large crowd of interested ladies on hand for the demonstration.

Mr. Ron Gibbons, Cooking School Supervisor for Northwestern Utilities was present, and Mr. Les Mabbott, of Canada Packers, which provided the food used in the demonstrations.

Miss Rae Gaetz, Home Service Director for Northwestern Utilities, assisted by Miss Donna Christie, gave mouth-watering demonstrations of all-gas cooking, using the many efficient and beautiful gas appliances provided by Northwestern Utilities. The efficiency of the two women delighted the ladies who were watching.

Miss Laura Lindsay, of C.F.R.N. appeared on the show and gave a very interesting talk. Other distinguished guests included Miss Lindsay's husband, Mr. Banks, of Northwestern Utilities; Mr. Ed Mathews of Northwestern Utilities and Mr. Leo McKernan, local agent for N.W.U.

A movie of the R.C.A. "Miracle Kitchen" was shown. "Miracle Kitchen" was truly the right word for it. The eyes of old-time cooks would pop to see all the amazing gadgets, all within the kitchen, to cook meals, incinerate garbage, wash and dry clothes, serve meals, wash dishes, and to do many other things, all at the touch of a button. Apparently the only thing not included in the push-button miracle kitchen was a button to put out the milk and the cat. Perhaps neither are part of the well-ordered household of the future.

Presentations of corsages was made by Brownies and Guides, Delphine Johnson, Sheila Campbell, Jo-Anne McLean and Anne Gray.

The door-prize, a handsome Rotisserie, a range-top spit, was won by Mrs. Stevenson. Winners of the various foods cooked by the demonstrators and the Canada Packers hampers were, Jo-Anne McLean, Mrs. Swenseid, Mrs. Greiner, Mrs. Patterson, Lorraine Fehr, Mrs. Thompson, Ella Holman, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Twisale, Ann Parenteau, Mrs. Schell and Mrs. Bright.

The Gas Cooking Show was the second one put on in Drayton Valley by Northwestern Utilities and Canada Packers.

Lions Club to Conduct Clean-up Campaign

Drayton Valley Lions Club met in the lounge of the Community Centre on Tuesday last for their regular meeting. The meeting was very excellently catered by The Canteen, under the eye of Lion Bruce Lee. Visitors introduced were Cliff Chorley, of the Devon Lions Club, Bob Simons and Gordon Pawlick, of Drayton Valley. Roll call found a large percentage of the Lions members on hand for the meeting.

In the meeting following dinner the matter of House Numbering was discussed and it was decided that since Drayton Valley had grown so much since the Lions put on the first house-numbering campaign about two years ago, by now only about 50% of the houses are numbered and it was decided that the Club would proceed with the house-numbering again.

Householders will be able to purchase their house numbers from the Lions members at a very nominal fee within the next few weeks. Directors of the house-numbering campaign are, Lions McKernan, L. Rendflesh, Twisale and Stevenson.

It was also decided that the Lions Club would conduct a Clean-up Campaign for one or two days in the very near future. Publicity will be given to the clean-up campaign just prior to its start so that all householders will know when it gets underway.

Nominations for the slate of officers for the Lions club for 1960-61 were conducted. Elections will be held at the next regular meeting, May 3rd.

The Lions are putting on a Spring Dance in the huge Community Centre, which serves as the Curling Rink during the winter, and has over 10,000 square feet of floor. The Spring Dance will be staged on Friday May 13th, to music provided by the Valley Rhythms. Dancing will be from 9:00 p.m. till 2:00 a.m.

Plans are being finalized by the Lions Club for another big Rodeo this year. Rodeo dates are July 29 and 30. The Rodeo Committee is Lions Keith Peterson, Ken Boling, Ron Carter, Henry Deby and Lorne Stevenson.

The Psalmist likened a house-full of children to a quiver filled with arrows.....(Psa. 127:5): "As arrows.....are children.....Happy is the man who hath a quiver full of them....."

Fourteen fine, husky and healthy children, seven boys and seven girls, fill the Ervin Combs house at Rocky Rapids to near-over flowing, when they all gather together, with the in-laws and the grandchildren.

Aurrey is married, (to the former Laura Cherrington), they have four children; next eldest, Twyla, is married (to Al Getzinger) and they have two children. Third eldest is Lyla, (married to Lorne Denir) one child. Fourth child is Merna, married to Lloyd Tattersall, with two children. Most of the children were born at home, with the aid of a mid-wife; they are all unusually healthy.

Mr. Combs was raised in Rocky Rapids, his parents coming to the district many years ago. They ran a store and the post-office in Rocky Rapids for a number of years.

Mrs. Combs was born in Entwistle. Her mother was a nurse there for a long time, nursing many from all sections of the district.
